How should it change me?

Ask yourself these questions after your study:

- What would this text have meant to its original audience?
- What has this text revealed to me about God's character, conduct, and concerns?
- In light of who God is, what does the text reveal about who I am?
- What has this text revealed to me about what I should believe about God, myself, and God's plan of redemption for humankind?
- What has this text revealed to me about what my heart should desire?
- What has this text revealed to me about how I should respond to God?
- What has this text revealed to me about how I should respond to others?
- What are some specific practical things I can do or changes I can make to better respond to God and others?
